"Dear Brutus", a comedy fantasy by James M. Barrie will be presented in the Chapel by the Albion College Players, Friday and Saturday, May 10-11. Tickets will be sold at the Albion College book store through the week starting Monday, May 6.

According to Mr. James W. Brock, instructor in speech, a stylized setting will be used for the play.

The play cast includes Linda Bowman, Charlevoix; Betty Dunham, Bay Village, Ohio; Lawrence Granger, Royal Oak; Harry Idle, Bellevue; Marilyn Harger, Charles Parkhurst and Park Watson, Albion, and Shirley Dancy, Jarvis Lamb, Florence Miller and Jacqueline Stiles, Detroit.

Through the aid of a Methodist pastor and former missionary to Africa, a knowledge of logic, philosophy, mathematics, Latin, and English literature was afforded him, that he might complete his studies for college matriculation.

Feeling that educational opportunities were greater in America, Dr. Whitehouse came to the United States, charged with the idea that he would become a minister. Establishing himself in Brimley, he became affiliated with the Detroit Methodist conference, at which time he enrolled at Lebanon university in Ohio. In 1916 he received his A. B., and in 1917 he earned his B. D. from the Garrett Biblical institute.

A year was spent at the Milwaukee, Wis., Asbury Community church, and the next at Camp Custer where Dr. Whitehouse was a YMCA educational secretary. Shortly afterward he was transferred to Albion in the S.A.T.C., and for a short period he was pastor of the Parma church.

Desiring further education and with his eye on the Drew Theological seminary, he accepted the pastorate of the Fort Lee Methodist church in New York. It was at this period that he earned his Th.D. The same year, 1922, he accepted the invitation to teach on the Albion college staff as professor of economics and sociology. Soon he registered at Northwestern university, where, after three years of work, he received his Ph.D.

In 1929, President John L. Seaton asked him to accept the deanship of the college, and for 10 years he held

Council Will Elect Staff Members

Ask Letters of Application To Be Turned in by Monday

Next year's Albionian and Pleiad staffs will be elected by the Publications council next week. Letters of application for editor, managing editor, circulation manager and business manager of the Pleiad, and editor, associate editor and business manager of the Albionian must be in by next Monday to Miss Katherine Dowding, secretary to the president, in the Administration building.

Letters of application should be written directly to the Publications council and contain a statement of the person's qualifications. Applicants should also furnish one or two letters of recommendation, which should be sent directly to the council by the writer.

Time Marches On

Today Dr. W. W. Whitehouse was installed as successor to the man whose academic procession he led nearly 21 years ago. On June 25, 1925, Dr. Whitehouse was marshal and looked after the details of the procession for Dr. John L. Seaton's inauguration. At that time Dr. Whitehouse was professor of sociology.

Rowland Speaks at Convention

Dr. L. U. Rowland, director of music, spoke yesterday at the state convention of the National Federation of Music clubs in Pontiac.

all those taking part in the program, the members of the board of trustees, visiting guests and representatives of other institutions, all faculty members and the senior class. The visiting representatives were arranged in line according to the dates of founding of the institutions they represented. Harvard was first.

The procession started in front of Kresge gymnasium and after a complete circle of the campus proceeded down Erie street to the First Methodist church. At the church, the organ processional and recessional were played by Mr. F. Dudleigh Vernon, ex-'11, instructor in organ.

The order of the program was as follows: a prayer led by Dr. G. Dempster Yinger, '29, minister of the church; hymn, "We Would Be Building" by Sibelius, sung by the congregation; "Alleluia" by Thompson sung by the college choir directed by Mr. David L. Strickler, instructor in voice.

An address "America in the New World" given by Dr. Moulton; singing by the choir of "Praise to the Lord" by Christiansen; induction of the president by Mr. Lawrence; the charge by Dr. Seaton; the response by Dr. Whitehouse; singing of the Albion college hymn by choir and audience, and the benediction by Dr. Frederic S. Goodrich, college chaplain.

Dr. Moulton in his address traced the development of the United States as a world power. He gave the following as major economic goals to which the American people seem to be devoted: larger total national income; a wider division of national income; a society in which individual rewards are based primarily on work performed; an increasing economic security; the greatest possible development of the capacity of every individual; the opportunity for every capable individual to earn his own income.

As part of his conclusion Dr. Moulton said, "What I have been trying to convey in the foregoing is that the problems confronting the United States today—both at home and abroad—can be stated in fairly simple terms, but that their solution depends upon our ability to replace prejudice, emotion, and ignorance with thoughtfulness, objectivity, and knowledge. This will, of course, remain the great role of our institutions of higher learning."

Dr. Seaton said it is assumed that a college president should be a scholar but he must be also a good business man. He must know how to spend money wisely, must have courage, faith and human warmth.

He said to Dr. Whitehouse, "Generations of living men and women who love this college are looking to you with eager expectancy and steady trust. Wherefore, seeing that you are compassed about by so great a cloud of witnesses may you run with patience and sureness of step the race that is set before you, looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith and life."

Dr. Whitehouse outlined the position of the liberal arts college in the educational system. He said that a liberal arts college must create its own pattern but must observe what other schools are doing.

Big Three Plans for Next Week End Include Skits, Dance, Scraps, Carnival, Song Fest

Plans for next week's Big Three week end include freshman-sophomore men's scraps, a semi-formal dance, freshman-sophomore women's skits and song fest, and the A club carnival.

Beginning at 7:30 p. m. next Thursday in the Kresge gymnasium, the freshman men will play the sophomore men in volleyball, basketball, and the scooter game. The scooter game is played on square boards with rubber casters. The object is to throw the ball, which is about four feet in diameter, at a designated section of the gymnasium wall.

All the games are to be played under a time limit. In all of the games points scored will count one point each. The total number of points scored will be added together to determine the winner of the evening's activities.

Continuing the scraps on the Alumni field next Saturday morning will be a softball game, boxing match, wrestling match, and canoe fight. In the canoe fight, two men will each have a canoe and they will try to tip each other over with a long stick on the end of which is a boxing glove.

Climaxing the scraps will be a tug of war to be held across the Kalamazoo river behind the fraternity houses on Erie street.

A triangular track meet with Hope college and Alma college will take place at 2 p. m. at the Alumni field. Robert Lynn, La Grange, Ill., has charge of the scraps. On his committee are: William Finni, Albion; William Hopkins, Franklin; Elkin Isaac, Chicago; Robert Kincaid, Corunna; Robert McIntosh, Lincoln Park; Douglas Newkirk, Otsego; Robert Rodda, Ferndale; Aaron Sharp, Valparaiso, Ind.; and Eldred Toutant, Charlotte.

A semi-formal dance with Les Van Wagner and his band will be in Kresge gymnasium next Friday from 8-12 p. m. sponsored by the Student council, according to Sharp, general chairman. Tickets may be secured from any Student council member at $1.50 per couple. The men may wear tuxedos but there will be no corsages given.

During the intermission, Coach Dale R. Sprankle will award three scholarship trophies. They will go to the men with the highest scholastic average who won their letters in last year's track, in this year's basketball, and in this year's football.

A list of seven candidates for Miss Britton chosen by the A club will be posted on campus next Monday. Balloting will be after chapel by the entire college next Wednesday. One woman will be elected queen and the six others will be her court. Lewis Moon, Albion, president of the A club, will crown the queen at the dance next Friday night.

Spring flowers are to be the theme of the dance. Marjorie Hossfeld, Niles, heads the committee for decorations, assisted by Jeannette Church.

To The Future of Albion

Superficially, the inauguration today of President W. W. Whitehouse is impressive as a not often witnessed ceremony, and an auspicious occasion and gathering of many illustrious figures.

But more than an event and an outward performance it marks the beginning of a new era for a college. President Whitehouse brings with him plans for a more progressive, an even more beneficial school.

The long range planning committee has drafted a set of improvements which include all the new buildings which will make the college grow in accordance with the changes of the post war years—new buildings, new equipment, a union building, and new dorms are all provided for.

Improvements in curriculum are even now being made and will continue to be planned. An appropriate enlargement of staff members will accompany these changes.

The program to encourage further study by the most talented students of the college was begun this year and will be expanded and improved. A special branch of this research program will include a set-up whereby the research will be coordinated with the industries in and around Albion making for an understanding between school and industry and a practical application.

With these already revealed plans and with those which are still in the making all of us look forward to a progressive and well-guided college under the leadership of President Whitehouse and with this in mind we speak of today as a very special occasion.

Reporter Lists Significant Meanings Of Differences in Academic Garb

The academic procession for the Inauguration of President W. W. Whitehouse will consist of the board of trustees, the faculty, seniors, and many visitors from other colleges and universities, all dressed in academic garb. There is a significant meaning attached to the differences in the pattern, material, color, trimmings of the gown, and also in the differences in the hood and cap.

The pattern of the gown denotes the degree. The pointed sleeves for the bachelor's degree, the long closed sleeve with a slit for the arm is the pattern for the master's degree, and the round open sleeves for the doctor's degree.

The gown is made of serge, worsted material, or silk. For all degrees the gowns are black with trimmings indicating the degree and major subject.

Black velvet facing on the front of the gown and three bars of the same across the sleeve is distinctive of the doctor's gown, or these facings and crossbars may be of velvet of the color of the subject to which the degree pertains. The colors associated with the most common degrees are as follows: arts and letters, white; fine arts, brown; law, purple; music, pink; philosophy, dark blue; physical education, sage green; science golden yellow, and theology, scarlet.

Composed of the same material and color as the gown, the hood is three feet long for the bachelor's degree, three and one-half feet for the master's degree, and for the doctor's degree four feet, and the one for the doctor's degree is the only one which has panels at the sides.

The hoods are lined with the official color or colors of the college or university which conferred the degree. For example: Albion's hoods have a purple background with gold chevrons, and the University of Michigan's is gold background with blue chevrons.

Velvet binds the hoods, two inches, three inches, and five inches for the bachelor's, master's, and doctor's degrees, respectively; while the color of the binding shows the subject named in the conferment of the degree.

The caps are made of serge or worsted material also; however, the doctor's caps are sometimes made of velvet. They are also black and follow the so-called mortar-board form. The tassel, fastened to the top of the cap, is usually black except the doctor's cap may have a tassel of gold thread.

There are some exceptions to the type of apparel already mentioned. For instance, a member of a governing body of a college or university may wear a doctor's gown even if he does not hold a doctor's degree. His hood, however, is still that of the degrees which he holds.

Persons holding foreign degrees may wear gowns, hoods, and caps unlike the American and with special differentiations peculiar to their country.

VISION IS LIFE

Seeing is not only believing—seeing is living. Of course it is possible to live "in a way" with deficient eyesight, but to get the cream of life, make sure that your vision is not only fair—but perfect. The top 20 to 30 per cent of life is the best, and it is enjoyed only by those who see that their seeing is what it should be.

Wife of Dr. Seaton Dies at Home After Long Illness

Funeral services for Mrs. John L. Seaton, wife of Dr. Seaton, president emeritus, were held yesterday in the First Methodist church at 4 p. m. Dr. G. Dempster Yinger, pastor, officiated and was assisted by President W. W. Whitehouse, Dr. F. S. Goodrich, college chaplain, and Rev. Spencer B. Owens, district superintendent of the Methodist church. The burial was in the Riverside cemetery.

A memorial service was given for Mrs. Seaton during chapel last Wednesday. Her favorite hymn, "Be Still, My Soul" was sung before a prayer by President Whitehouse. Dr. Goodrich spoke quoting from Revelations 12, and mentioned her accomplishments. The service closed with the playing of the college hymn.

Mrs. Seaton died at her home Tuesday noon at the age of 68, after many years of ill health. She was born August 25, 1877, in Maynard, Iowa. After attending Upper Iowa university, she was graduated from its conservatory of music. On August 27, 1901, Dr. and Mrs. Seaton were married, and went to Boston university where he was doing work on his doctor's degree. During this period she continued her music and became an especially outstanding accompanist. After composing several musical selections, she wrote finally, a year ago, the songs used in an operetta for her granddaughter, called "Lynn and the Butterfly."

With her husband, Mrs. Seaton lived in several places from California to New York as he progressed from clergyman, to college professor and educational executive.

For the last 21½ years Mrs. Seaton lived in Albion, where she has taken great interest in campus and community affairs, in spite of her long illness.

Surviving besides her husband are: a daughter, Mrs. J. W. McDonald, Jackson Heights, N. Y.; a son, William D. Seaton, New York; two brothers, Irving H. Davis, Spokane, Wash., and Walter W. Davis, Seattle, Wash., and two sisters, Miss Charlotte H. Davis, Laguna Beach, Calif., and Mrs. Grant E. Finch, Dillon, Mont.

Track Season To Open Here

Britons Will Play Host To U. of D. Men Tomorrow

The Albion college track team will play host to the University of Detroit thinclads at Alumni field Saturday afternoon to officially open the 1946 outdoor track season.

Since the U. of D. squad has no advance publicity, it is hard to tell what its strength will be Saturday afternoon. The air has been filled with rumors, however. If these rumors prove to be correct, the Motor City harriers will provide excellent, if not overwhelming, competition.

This is the first year in its history that U. of D. has gone in for track in a serious way. Dr. Bernard F. Landuyt has recently joined the coaching staff to be mentor of the Titan thinclads after a highly successful tour of duty at Illinois college.

The Albion team is still an unknown quantity, but more will be known about it after the meet Saturday. Coach Dale R. Sprankle has not definitely named Albion's entrants in the meet but has published a list of probable contestants.

Dick Culver, Bob Morrison and Bill Shafer will compete in the 100-yard dash while Morrison and Bob Lenzi will run the 220. The Britons will be represented in the quarter-mile by Harrie Bleecker and Paul Forton whose foot injury has healed. Keith Hurlbut may be an additional starter if his foot injury heals in time.

Half-milers will be Ben Robbins and Bill Yost. For the mile and two-mile grind Coach Sprankle has named Warren Corbin, Bob Jackman, Harry Jones and Don Pon. In the low hurdles it will be Jerry Edwards and Dave Flotow, Byron Lasky and Jerry Skeels. Lasky will also compete in the high hurdles along with Bob Maynard.

Bob Rodda and Ed Foster will toss the shot while Gaver Athey, Jack Blanchard and Bob McIntosh will throw the javelin. Blanchard has been showing up very well in practice and is expected to do the same Saturday afternoon.

Bob Rodda will be the lone entrant in the discus throw. Skeels and Flotow will do the high jumping, and Edwards and Pete Johansen will do the honors in the broad-jump.

Lewis Announces Award For Winning Ball Team

A pennant will be given to the winning WAA baseball team of the season, announces Barbara Lewis, New Era. Games that could not be played at the beginning of this week will be played this afternoon.

Reports of before-vacation games are: Zeta Tau Alpha (1) defeated Kappa Delta (2), 14-12; Delta Gamma (2) won over the Alpha Chi Omega (2), 22-21, and Delta Zeta (2) forfeited to the Independent (2).

Golf Team Drops Opening Match To Alma College

Britons Will Play Host To Hillsdale Next Tuesday At Duck Lake Country Club

The Albion college golf team opened the 1946 golf season by dropping its first match to Alma college, 8-4, last Tuesday afternoon at the Duck Lake Country club.

Harold Quebbeman turned in the low score for the day, carding a 73 for the par 70 course. Wally Moore of Alma was second low with a 78.

Except for Quebbeman and Moore, both teams played erratically at times. Don Collins and Bob Linton were superior to their adversaries in driving but lost their advantage on approach shots and putts. Linton especially had trouble with putting, missing many tries by an inch or less.

Soggy greens and a high wind were responsible for the large scores in some cases.

The Britons will play host to the Hillsdale team in their next home match scheduled for next Tuesday at 1:15 p. m. All home matches will be played at Duck lake.
