

Soybean to star in Saga's meat meals

By Marda Gerts

The no-meat 'meat' textured vegetable protein product soon to be found in meals in the dorms will be one solution to the rise in costs of meat.

The protein product spun out of soybeans is called Bontrae by General Mills, which manufactures it. It comes in three flavors: beef, chicken, and ham and is chunks, dice or crumbles.

"It hasn't come in yet, but as soon as we can get it we'll be using it," explained George Forsyth of Saga Food Service. He said it isn't available yet and predicted October for usage date.

The General Mills' brochure asserts Bontrae has the taste, the texture and the look, but not the price of regular meat.

6 join Trustees

Six new members will join the College Board of Trustees when the board meets Oct. 25 and 26 for the first time this academic year.

Three of the new members were elected to the board by the Board of Trustee members. Two were elected by members of the Alumni association.

The West Michigan conference of the United Methodist church elected the sixth member, the first woman named as a trustee by the conference, according to Keith Avery, West Michigan conference council director.

All were elected to three year terms.

The new members elected by the board are R. Bud Davis, investment securities businessman and former vice president and treasurer of Albion Industries Inc.; Robert A. Morris, retired general manager of the folding carton division of Georgia-Pacific Corporation, and Jay D. Wisner, regional plant manager for General Motors Corporation.

The two trustees elected by the Alumni association are Beverly Burnham Hannett, a 1958 Albion graduate and associate department chairman in English for Detroit Country Day school, and Dr. Andrew G. Sharf, a 1944 Albion graduate and cardio-vascular surgeon practicing in Glendale, California.

Anne Johnson, associate lay leader of the West Michigan conference, became the first woman trustee elected by the conference.

However, the Board of Trustees and the Alumni association have elected women before.

20 faculty join staff

Twenty faculty members are making their Albion College debuts this semester.

The new members include Stephen Beckholt, instructor of physical education; Gerard Cherittwizer, assistant professor of modern languages; Russell Clark, assistant professor of geology; Desmond Clarke, assistant professor of philosophy; Nick deMaties, visiting lecturer of visual arts; Terry Hall, assistant professor of psychology; Douglas Hattrem, instructor of mathematics, and William Hayes, chairman of psychology.

Other new faculty members are Raymond Hodgson, visiting lecturer of religious studies; David Johnson, assistant professor of psychology; Margaret Lyerly, instructor of biology; Michael Rozeff, instructor of economics and business administration; Richard Rosser, dean of faculty; Kai Sorensen, director of debate for speech communication and theater; Charles Shearer, instructor of economics and business administration, and Leland Thompson, instructor of physical education.

Four new faculty members are hired on a part-time basis. They are Martha Aldenbrand, instructor of psychology; John Prochera, instructor of political science; Susan Ray, instructor of biology, and Robert Scholl, instructor of physical education.

Among the faculty members who have been on the staff before and are returning is Jay Polk, professor of economics and business administration. Polk was a member of Albion's faculty from 1948 until his retirement in 1971 with emeritus rank. He is returning for a one-year teaching appointment.

A comparative nutrition content chart per 100 grams (gm.) edible portion shows ground beef with 24.2 gm. of protein while Bontrae beef crumbles have 19.6 gm. There is 20.3 gm. of fat in beef and Bontrae has 3.2 gm. Beef has 286 calories compared to 150 calories in Bontrae.

However, in the chicken flavored Bontrae, protein is 10.6 gm. less than real chicken; fat is 6.4 gm. more than real chicken, and there are 13 calories more than in real chicken.

When Bontrae comes in, it will be taken to the dorms so students may see the product and ask questions about it, said Forsyth.

"We're real proud of it; it's nothing we're ashamed of," he said.

"The answer to the question of meat substitutes, the elimination of steak night and seconds on meat items, and the $15 raise in board rate this semester is due to a spring economic projection of prices which didn't come true," explained Forsyth.

Forsyth said he will let the students know when the entree contains the meat substitute. It will usually be used as an extender and might be found in sandwiches, soups, chow mein, meat loaf, beef patties, sloppy joes, spaghetti sauces, tacos, macaroni and cheese, ham 'n' eggs etc.

Other Saga news includes special features to attract students into the Keller. At certain times a timer will be set and when the bell rings, the person paying for his food at that time will get his food free, explained Forsyth.

Student directory needs editor

The College Publications Council is seeking a student to fill the position of editor of the College student directory, announced Grant Stokoe, Portage senior and council president.

The student who had been appointed editor last semester failed to return to the College this fall, Stokoe said.

The student directory is a compilation of all the students presently enrolled at Albion, their campus addresses and phone numbers, and their home addresses.

Also included in the directory is a listing of administration, faculty, and staff addresses and phone numbers as well as their office locations.

The directory is published early in the first semester of the school year. The position is salaried.

Students interested in editing the directory may get in touch with Stokoe at 629-6882 or Robert Gildart, associate professor of English and editorial advisor to student publications, at 629-3220.

Construction stands still

Campus construction activity has seemingly plodded to a standstill, after a busy summer, indicated President Bernard T. Lomas and Executive Vice President Gordon Carson this week.

Difficulties have arisen causing work to halt on the construction of the proposed new sculpture studio and a delay in ground-breaking for the proposed performing arts building.

The sculpture studio was to replace the building that had once served as the Eat Shop, located just west of the visual arts building.

A concrete floor was poured before construction ended.

Stipulations in the gift that was to finance the performing arts building have delayed its construction. It is expected that ground-breaking will take place in October, Carson said.

The performing arts center will house the speech communication and theater department and will be located on the present athletic grounds displacing the oval track.

Renovation of Goodrich Chapel as the new headquarters of the music department has nearly been completed, Lomas said.

Rooms have been remodeled to be used as faculty offices, an elevator has been installed, and soundproof walls have been erected for practice cubicles.

The only work left to be done is installation of carpet, Lomas commented.

ALBION, MICHIGAN, SEPTEMBER 14, 1973

NUMBER ONE

Sen. Hatfield to speak Tues.

United States Senator Mark O. Hatfield (R-Oregon) will initiate the College lecture-concert series at 8 p.m. Tuesday in Goodrich Chapel when he speaks on "Conflict and Conscience."

The Kalamazoo symphony orchestra will give its second concert in two years at Albion on Oct. 22, as part of the concert series. The Northwestern university (Evanston, Ill.) mime troupe will lecture on and demonstrate mime here on Nov. 8.

Senator Hatfield will discuss, in his lecture, the present mood of political distrust in America, the ramifications for our future, and the place of the Christian in relation to the power of government.

Hatfield, who was first elected to the Senate in 1966, has been a frequent spokesman on the impact of "civil religion" in America and its potential distortions of true Biblical faith.

Hatfield serves on the Senate appropriations, interior and insular, and rules and administration committees.

Before becoming a senator, Hatfield served for two terms as Oregon's governor, as secretary of state, as a state representative, and as a state senator.

Between 1948 and 1957, he was a political science instructor, associate professor, and dean of students at Willamette university, Salem, Ore.

The Kalamazoo symphony concert is scheduled for 8 p.m. Oct. 22 in Goodrich Chapel. The orchestra will be conducted this year by Francois Huybrechts, who is also the music director and conductor of the Wichita symphony. James Dick will be guest pianist.

The Northwestern mime troupe presentation will be at 8 p.m. Nov. 8 in the Baldwin Hall main dining room.

Irwin Beyer, director of the group, will give background and perspectives on mime. Then 10 mime students will demonstrate mime techniques.

Lecture-concert events are selected by a committee of faculty members and administrators appointed by the dean of faculty.

Players to grow 'Marigolds' in Oct.

"The Effect of Gamma Rays on Man-in-the-Moon Marigolds" is the first production scheduled for the Albion College Players this season said Samuel Grossman, instructor of speech and director of the production.

The play, written by Paul Zindel, won a Pulitzer prize and the Drama Critics Award.

Cast members include Sara Gabel, Bay Village, Ohio, senior, as Beatrice; Lory Furse, Flushing sophomore, as Tilly; Pamela Vargo, Homewood, Ill., freshman, as Ruth; Catherine Closson, Napoleon sophomore, as Janice Vickery, and Karen Deurloo, Fremont sophomore, as Nanny.

Thomas Oosting, assistant professor of speech, is technical director and is designing the set. Howard Stovall, Grand Rapids senior, is assistant director.

The first three productions of the season are scheduled to run for two week ends, said Grossman. Dates for "Marigolds" are set for Oct. 5, 6, 12 and 13.

"Two-fers" will be on sale one week prior to the play," announced Grossman. "Any ticket bought in advance at the Baldwin information desk will allow your date in free, 'two-fer' the price of one," he explained.

Future productions are "A Streetcar Named Desire" in November; "Fast Deep Chill," a student production; the musical "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" in February, and a Children's Theater play in April.

Interested students may try out for acting parts and volunteer for crew work, which is open to anyone on campus, Grossman said.

ACT to hold tryouts for 'Done to Death'

The Albion Community Theater (ACT) will be holding tryouts from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday at the Albion junior high school auditorium for its first production, "Done To Death."

"Done To Death," a mystery-comedy written by Fred Carmichael, is "a funny, fast-paced and merciless satire on the murder-mystery novel," according to a news release on the play.

David Frederick, director of forensics at Kellogg Community college, Battle Creek, will direct the play.

Interested persons may attend the tryouts. Five major roles and ten minor roles need to be cast.

"The purpose of the series is to bring to the campus a variety of programs, both academic and cultural, which have interest for both students and the community at large," said co-ordinator Bruce Duke, director of placement at Albion.

All programs in the lecture-concert series are open to the public without charge.

R.E.O. rolls in the rock

The first Union Board (UB) sponsored concert of the school year will bring R.E.O. Speedwagon and special guest stars Flo and Eddie to the Kresge gym from 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. Sunday.

R.E.O. Speedwagon, a "tight" five-man rock band from Chicago, has been playing together for about five years.

The group has recorded two records on the Epic label, "R.E.O. Speedwagon" and "R.E.O. T.W.O."

"The band... is essentially a live band," Neal Doughty, piano player and one of the original protagonists of the group, explained. "One of our major assets is that we are visually dynamic."

R.E.O. stands for Ransom E. Olds, who produced a truck in Lansing called the Speedwagon.

Flo and Eddie, another five-man band, includes members who used to play with Frank Zappa and the Mothers of Invention and with the Turtles. They have recently completed a tour with Alice Cooper.

A third group, Possum Kreak, will play from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the gym before the main concert starts.

Admittance to the concert is by student identification or guest ticket only. Guest tickets may be purchased at Baldwin information desk for $2 apiece until the desk closes Sunday night.

Only one guest ticket may be purchased per student I.D.

AFS officer to speak

The history department will sponsor a speaker for 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the International House.

Alonzo Stanford, a U.S. foreign service officer, will speak on "The U.S. and Latin American Military Dictatorships: Brazil - A Case Study."

All students may attend. Anyone interested in meeting individually with Stanford concerning careers in the State Department may arrange an appointment through the history department, ext. 396.

College to avoid fuel crisis-maybe

It is not likely a College fuel oil crisis will arise next winter, but a supply problem still exists said Virgil Metzler, business manager.

"We have to buy one more month's allotment of fuel oil for this winter. We have three months' allotment now, so this should be possible," Metzler said.

Until six weeks ago the school had been unable to get any fuel oil allotments at all, Metzler said. The College's heating system normally runs on natural gas but, because of increased gas demand in the winter, the supply to the College is temporarily shut off. Fuel oil must be bought to heat the school during this period.

"Until last year the gas was seldom off more than a few weeks. Last year, however, we received no gas for three months. We were told we would have no gas for three months again this winter," Metzler said.

However, Metzler was recently informed that the gas would be off for four months this winter. This necessitates buying an extra month's supply of fuel oil.

Why do men never learn?

Another September arrives. Another school year begins. As one begins his seventh and final semester at Albion College one can only surmise as to whether this academic year will proceed in a manner different from that of the preceding years.

Previous years in educational institutions may teach one that it is not necessarily what one learns in the institution that is important (eg. its classrooms) but what one learns from the institution (eg. its operation).

One may also see this same educational process in the outside world. The summer sun was shrouded by a cloud called Watergate. Media men may argue over the amount of the President's involvement, whether he should release the taped conversations, or whether Henry Kissinger should have to disclose his knowledge on the topic before he can be approved as secretary of state.

But one may also see what media men omit in their broadcasts and news stories. One may see the causes, the short-sightedness of men, the web of deceit and secrecy that has made up the foundation of Watergate.

Why do men act this way? One may often ponder this question. One may not understand why men do not accept responsibility for their actions. Instead, men construct an elaborate cover of untruths until one of the untruths is seen for what it is. And the cover collapses.

One may respect the virtue of privacy but one may not understand the need for secrecy. Why must men believe that by preventing or postponing the truth from being made public that they could possibly escape public reprimand?

One may not understand why men can't see that it is easier to admit the truth before the elaborate cover is erected. Once the cover is raised and felled the confession means admitting the initial truth as well as the cover.

So as one begins his final lap in the educational process one may see that all the happenings in the outside world are happening right there in front of him, too.

And not necessarily in the classroom.

Senate plans election soon

An all-campus election will be held sometime in the next three weeks, announced Jeff Weedman, Chesterfield, Ind., junior and chairman of student senate.

"Six positions have to be filled — two senators at large and four freshmen and transfer student representatives," Weedman said.

A position on the fair hearing board is also open, Weedman added. One member and his alternate will be elected, to begin their duties next semester.

Senate will be interviewing students interested in working as a senate secretary.

"We need someone to work ten hours a week, during the afternoons, as a senate secretary in the senate office. The job will pay $1.60 an hour," Weedman said.

Financial aid students will get first preference, Weedman added. Interested students may contact the senate office or call Weedman at extension 2420.

There has been a change in the identification card replacement policy, Weedman said. Formerly it cost $5 to replace a lost or damaged ID card. It still costs $5 to replace a lost card, but damaged cards are now replaced free, Weedman said.

Campus Shorts

A non-credit "just for fun" Chinese cooking course is being offered this semester by Bruce Borthwick, associate professor of political science.

Interested students may see Borthwick for information.

All interested students may sign up by Sunday for International club with either Rosa Gomez or Herman Sze in the I-House.

The College Pleiad is currently seeking news photographers. Interested students may apply at the Pleiad office or get in touch with Dan Vecchioni, editor-in-chief, at 629-6882 or 629-5965. A salary accompanies the position.

Joranko and assistants to rein 1973 gridders

For those few who haven't heard, the 1973 gridders are under new reins this year after the absence of Tom Taylor and his assistants.

This new football coach, people have asked who he is, where he's from, and what he's done. He's Frank Joranko, a 1952 Albion graduate and a one time All-MIAA quarterback, and the most valuable athlete in 1951 and '52.

Since this time Joranko has earned an M.S. in physical education with an emphasis on physiology from the University of Illinois. He also served two years in the Army Medical Corps.

He coached high school football for six years before receiving the head coaching job at Ferndale high school. Ferndale is a large class A school on Detroit's sideline where the competition is tremendous, and where coaches come and go ever so often because of losing records.

But not Frank Joranko. He led his teams to six conference titles between 1961 and 1972: '62, '63, '64, '68, '70, and '72. His compiled record of 84 wins, 19 losses, and five ties, along with his All-Stae Championship team of 1972, more than led him to receive the Detroit Free Press's "Coach of the Year" award in 1972.

Joranko arrived in Albion late last year, where he took on the job of coaching varsity baseball. And a job he did, the bengals tied with Alma for first place in the MIAA.

Joranko will be assisted by Lee Thompson, offensive line coach and Steve Beckholt, defensive coordinator.

Thompson is a graduate from Western Michigan where he received his B.S. He later went on to receive his M.Ed. from Ohio University. He began his coaching career in high school and worked his way through Western and Ohio U. before reaching Albion.

Beckholt also studied at W.M.U. where he played football for two years, then transferred to M.S.U. and graduated. He completed his graduate studies at C.M.U. before coming to Albion.

So — for those few, this is who Frank Joranko is, and his two assistants Lee Thompson and Steve Beckholt. Catch you at the game!

Prof leads GLCA Israel program

Frank Frick, assistant professor of religious studies, was named earlier this summer to the post of resident director of the Great Lakes Colleges Association (GLCA) Israel program for the 1973-74 academic year.

Frick will serve as academic and personal advisor for 12 GLCA students attending Hebrew university in Jerusalem.

He will be responsible for special seminars and programs to acquaint students with Israeli culture and to supplement their academic work by planning work-study and directed study opportunities.

College exhibits art

The first of eight scheduled art exhibitions sponsored by the visual arts department for the 1973-74 academic year is presently under way in the visual arts building galleries.

The exhibition on display is drawn from the permanent collection of the College and includes paintings, sculpture, prints, and decorative objects.

Also included in the exhibit is a recently completed piece of sculpture by Phil Vander Weg who attended Albion from 1961 to 1963. The piece, titled Cloudscape Image No. 4, is on display for the first time.

The exhibit will run through Sept. 23. The galleries are open Monday through Thursday 9 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., Friday 9 a.m. to 4:45 p.m., Saturday 9 a.m. to noon and Sunday 2 p.m. to 5 p.m.

There is no charge for admission.

Counselors seek frosh with potential

The Counseling Center, Jackson street, is seeking freshmen concerned with exploring, in a group setting, ways to develop a more complete realization of individual potential.

A strong emphasis would be placed on appraising and developing each group member's concepts of his or her own personal directions and growth.

The group will have a positive orientation and is not designed for students in need of serious problem-centered counseling.

Freshmen interested in participating may see Willard Frick, associate professor of psychology, or Cathy Swanson, co-ordinator of counseling, or by calling ext. 362 or 363, by Wednesday.

A second group of upperclassmen is also being sought. Information may be obtained at the Counseling Center.

Britons ready for DePauw in opener

The Britons take on DePauw, Ind., Saturday at 2:00 for their season opener.

The new coaching staff composed of head coach Frank Joranko, along with assistants Lee Thompson and Steve Beckholt, will try a repeat of last year's 10-7 victory over DePauw.

Out of the 73 man squad Joranko has to work with, four of his 22 starters will be freshmen. Leading the rookies will be All-State halfback Kevin Nixon from Bay City. The remaining starters include 4 seniors, ten juniors, and 4 sophomores.

Albion's main threats on offense will be the passing combination of John Salvatore, St. Joseph senior, to Bob Basselman, junior, also from St. Joseph. Jeff Moon, Northville, sophomore, who started last year, will help Basselman out by playing in the tight end position. In the backfield, Nixon will fill the halfback slot, while Tom Erickson, Okemos sophomore, will fill the other. Dean Bacheller, another freshman from Ferndale will fill the fullback position.

On defense, Albion's line and linebackers looked very sharp in pre-season workouts with 215 pound Ray Went, Birmingham junior, leading the way at middle-linebacker.

From me to you, goodbye Sharon.
